

Rosh Hashanah is a time to celebrate family, traditions, and the stories that connect us across generations.

The Jewish Future Promise (JFP) is about sparking those meaningful conversations, ensuring that the values and heritage we cherish today will continue to inspire our children and grandchildren tomorrow.

This New Year, join us in making the Promise and passing on the traditions that make our families strong and our community vibrant.

Make the Promise. Shape the Future.

And if you are planning to leave a legacy gift, we encourage you to consider a Jewish charitable gift.

Thank you from your friends at the Jewish Grandparents Network and the Jewish Future Promise

Photographer Jay Levy