

How Your Jewish Life Stories Can Impact Your Grandchildren's Jewish Identity

with Dasee Berkowitz

Generational time

A difference between parents and grandparents is that we see our children in “real time” and grandparents see them in “generational time.” ... Generational time counts decades; it measures the big-picture stuff such as how long it takes for values to become internalized, for history lessons to impact today’s decision, and for wisdom from an earlier time to become an anchor for our families.”

- Becoming a Soulful Parent

Share Your Stories

1. A formative Jewish experience in your life
2. A struggle you faced around being Jewish
3. A story of connection to Israel

Tips & Timing

- Letter writing
- Sharing stories on the go and at play
- Artifact and Photograph gift-giving
- Sharing Videos
- Playing games with storytelling prompts

Resources

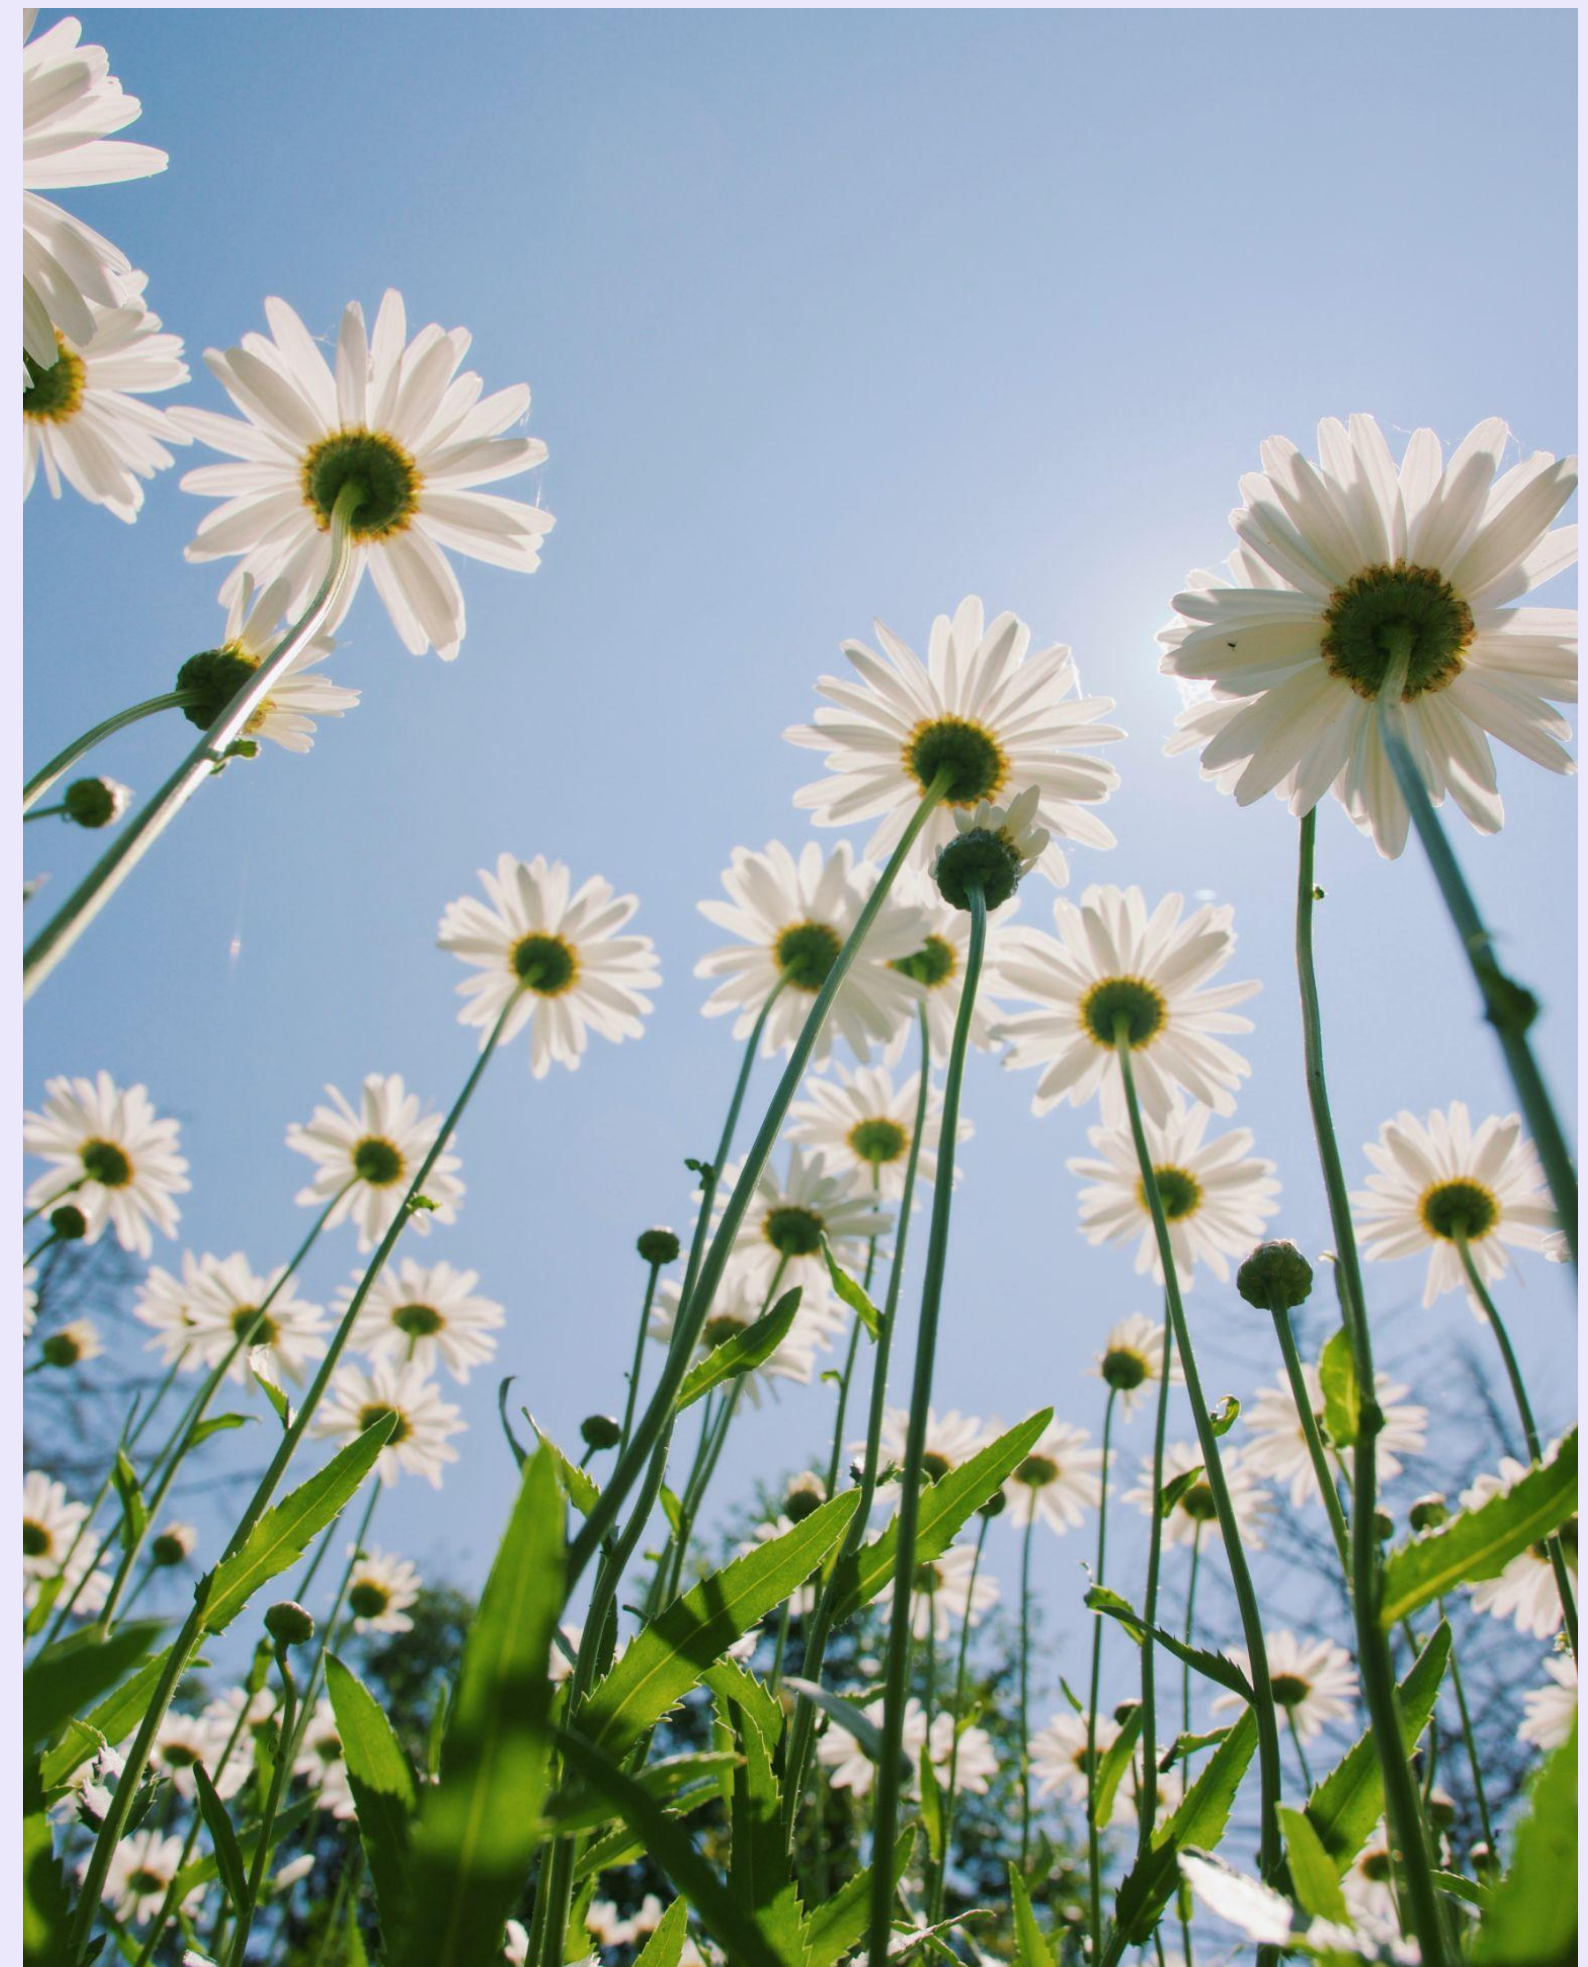

Capture your Story - captureyourstory.org

Family love letters - familyloveletters.com

Story Worth - storyworth.com

Megillah (Video) - megillastory.com

Tales (Games!) - tales.com

Stay in touch!

Email

daseeb@gmail.com

Website

www.soulfulparent.com